

Hecate's Embrace

I call to Hecate, the sacred three, Goddess of night, of crossroads, and mystery. With torch in hand, you illuminate the way, Guiding souls through realms both night and day.

O Hecate, mighty queen of the night, With your power, darkness turns to light. In shadowed depths, your wisdom unfurls, Dispelling ignorance, enlightening the worlds.

From cosmic heights, you descend with grace, Bringing harmony to the earthly place. Your presence, divine, transcends all bounds, In your embrace, true enlightenment is found.

O Hecate, guardian of secrets profound, To you, the mystic truths are unbound. With lunar radiance, you bless the night, Unveiling mysteries hidden from sight.

O goddess of magic, your name we praise, Your enchantments weave through timeless days. The crossroads tremble under your command, As you hold the keys to all paths, hand in hand.

O Hecate, protector of the lost and lone, Your compassion, like a mother's love, is known. With nurturing embrace, you heal and restore, Guiding us through trials, forevermore.

O goddess of justice, fairness is your creed, You weigh the scales with impartiality's seed. In your realm, true justice finds its place, Balancing the world with harmonious grace.

Hecate, Hecate, we offer our devotion, In your mysteries, we find profound emotion. May your sacred presence forever shine, As we seek enlightenment, in your realm divine.

Hail Hecate, goddess of the moonlit night, We honor you in this hymn, with all our might.
Guide us on the paths of truth and bliss, In your embrace, eternal blessings we'll miss.
